one such navigation school. Here at Mather, Air Training Command's 3535th Navigator Training Wing provides the Air Force with its navigators. navigator-bombardiers and electronic warfare officers.

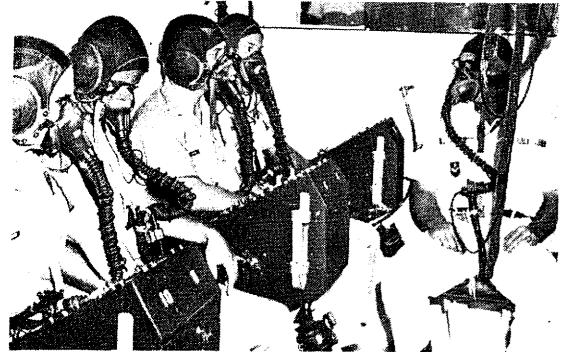

A formal flying training course in each of these three navigator specialities makes up the "hard core" of the wing's curriculum. Such training is conducted only at Mather AFB-therefore this operation is of unique importance in the structure of the Department of Defense. The school is a keystone in the nation's capability for global military airlift and strategic and tactical air operations.

complexity of weaponry and the development of special tactics for the operations in Southeast Asia.

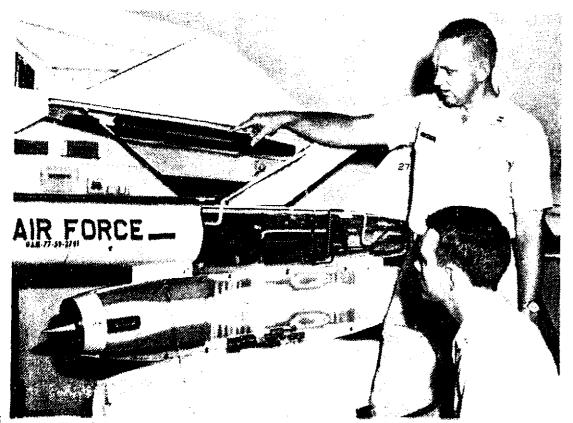

Total enrollment in the courses is now more than 1,000. Undergraduate Navigator Training is a 38-week course in the furnamentals of navigation. For graduates there is then the 30-week Electronic Warfare Officer Training course, or the 28-week Navigator-Bombardier Training course, as well as other shorter, specialized courses.

Mather Air Force Base was first opened in 1918 as a training school for World War I pilots; it also functioned as a flying school during World War II. In 1947 a specialized program of navigator training was instituted and has led to Mather's becoming the home of all U.S. training in that field.

Dear Helen: When you wrote about the domestic student exchange program, it could have been written about our school. For many years, Glen Rock High School has been interested in exchanging students between different states. Last year our first exchange was successfully carried out with Matoon High School in Illinois.

A dozen students from Illinois came here to New Jersy, where they was New York City and attended our school for a week. In turn, the teens from Glen Rock lived with their hosts and toured a little bit of "Lincoln-

The official college football centennial medal, sculptured by Justin Fairbanks, shows a scene from Arnold Friberg's painting and is the official symbol of the sport's 100th anniversary, sponsored by the National Collegiate Athletic Association. The design appears on a large bronze medal and two smaller coins struck by Medallic Art Company of New York.

The first football game played in America was literally "fought" between Rutgers and Princeton at Rutgers Field on Nov. 6, 1869. The ball could not be passed or handled and without the benefit of helmets or protective gear of any kind, two teams of 25 men each clawed and kicked their way to a Rutgers 6-4 victory. The slugfest was watched by a screaming crowd of 300 spec-

Today that game is de-picted on the obverse of the centennial medallion and is the official symbol of the One Hundredth Anniversary of College Football. The scene titled "The First Game" is one of a series of four painted by Arnold Friberg and commissioned by the Chevrolet Motor Co. for its newly created Sports Art Collection. The three other paintings, illustrating the history of the game, are:
"KnuteRockne-The "Howell to Hutson The Passing Game" and "O.J. Breaks for Daylight— The Modern Game." All four recently appeared in the Reader's Digest and may be

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

Cryotherapy---New Step In Dental Treatment

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.

Freezing tissue is an important new step in treatment of dental disease. Cryotherapy is the name given to this method, and it can be used to repair injured tissue, remove cancerous and noncancerous diseased tissue, and even eliminate infected gum pockets in periodontal disease (pyorrhea).

Main advantage is its simple and practically painless technique. Since no surgery is required there is no mutilation of tissue and no cosmetic deformity.

Treatment of gum pockets with eryotherapy avoids bleeding, reduces after-operation discomfort, and eliminates need for dress-

How does it work? Cryotherapy destroys selective tissue by freezing. A probe tip with controlled amounts of liquid nitrogen enough to lower temperature to -180 degrees centigrade is inserted into the diseased area, bone or gum. This brief contact results in death of the tissue which later sloughs.

sidewalk, reportedly Europe's largest, installed at the Montparnasse-Bienvenue station.

Healing process takes about six weeks, during which time new, healthy tis-sue forms in its place.

If a child gets a tooth knocked out, the tooth should be reimplanted in its socket as soon as possible. The sooner the better, according to a recent study, even if it must be done by whoever is present at the scene of the accident. A dentist should be seen as soon as possible.

Successful retention of the replaced tooth often depends on how soon it can be replaced in its socket. If done within minutes, it's possible the root will continue to develop, and surrounding tissues will heal normally and reattach themselves to the tooth.

A new process that greatly increases adhesion of lower dentures to the gums has recently been reported. It's called Durobonding and it involves depositing a microthin layer of silica on ordi-nary pink, plastic denture base material.

Durobonding was originally developed for artificial eyes to make them less irritating and to increase the amount of adhesion to the tissues. The layer of silica has an affinity for fluid and this seems to enhance its adhesive properties.

A recent study has all but invalidated the long-held theory that children's dental appointments should be at a particular time of day and that they should be of short duration. The study indicates that the time of day doesn't seem to master, and that much more can be accomplished in long appointments (1/2 - to 34-hour duration), with little extra patient fatigue.

This reduces the number of visits necessary to complete treatment, thus reducing the usual fuss generated by a visit to the dentist. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Red Forces Dwindle to 3 Divisions

WASHINGTON (AP) - U.S. N. TEXAS 57 Officials say Soviet strength in Czechoslovakia has dwindled to three divisions, but NATO strategists are busy implementing lessons learned from the August invasion.

Reduction of the Soviet forces followed an agreement between Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union in October, legalizing an indefinite Russian presence in the satellite.

The Red troops that once ranged throughout the strategic central European country are now based mainly in Bratislava and Prague, U.S. analysts say.

Particularly alarming to Western allies at the time of the invasion was the presence of six invasion divisions a short march from the West German frontier. Despite withdrawal of the main strength, Russian concentrations in East Germany and Poland remain significant. The Soviets have maintained a formidable 20 divisions in East Germany in the past and some of the troops withdrawn from Czechoslovakia have joined

Although the immediate threat to Western Europe's heartland has eased, North Atlantic Treaty Organization is beefing up defenses and keeping a closer watch on Soviet military activity along other European borders.

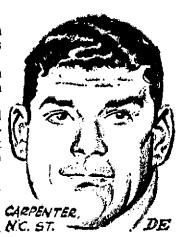

Strategists are considering including several U.S. Green Beret units among the two Army brigades and four jet fighter squadrons returning ahead of schedule to Europe early next year. Military and diplomatic sources in Washington described movement of the Green Beret or Special Forces units as

Third Party Possibility Is Discounted

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - Legislators in Little Rock this week for Legislative Council meetings tended to discount the possibility of a third political party emerging as a real power in Arkansas. Leaders of the American Independent party have a meeting set for Dec. 7 to make decisions regarding organization of the party.

George C. Wallace, the party's presidential candidate, carried Arkansas by a plurality in the Nov. 5 general election. State Sen. Morrell Cathright of Pine Bluff said the American independent party might be a longer-lived party at the national level.

But he added that he saw "no prospect whatsoever of a strong third party of any permanence' at the state or national levels. Rep. John Miller of Melbourne said a third party's chances would be "very slim." He said the vote for Wallace in Arkansas was not a desertion of either party, but a protest yote "to get some more of their type thinking back in one of the other parties."

Rep. Sterling Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock said he thought there would be a closer working relationship within the Democratic party in the state. "I support the idea that the young group and the older group need each other in order to be successful," be said. He said he doubted that there would be any major success for any effort to form a third parout of the Democratic party ranks.

Several other lawmakers expressed similar views.

Soviet Paper Raps Attempts to Liberalize

MOSCOW (AP) - The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia explicitly condemned today attempts to liberalize regimes in the Communist bloc, it said these were disguised forms of counterrevolution, Izvestja also assailed Western policies aimed at an increase of contacts with Eastern Europe, such as the bridge building the United States has sought.

The long article in the government newspaper was one of the bluntest statements seen here of Kremlin opposition to closer relations between the smaller Communist countries in Eastern Europe and the West.
